

Kevin Gaynor

International Head of Research

Kevin Gaynor is Head of International Research responsible for Nomura's research from EMEA, the Americas and Asia ex-Japan. Previously, he was Head of Asset Allocation Strategy at Nomura and prior to joining Nomura in 2010, Kevin was Head of Rates Research and Chief Markets Economist at RBS. He has held a number of roles at UBS/SBC including Rates and FX Strategist, Deputy Global Economist, Chief European Economist and Head of European Equity Strategy. Kevin holds a BSc in Physics, an MBA in Finance and a PhD in Economics and Politics. He is a regular in the financial media and author of Economic Convergence in Europe.