Sandy Lee

Head of Asia Quantitative Strategy
Nomura

Sandy Lee is the Head of Equity Quantitative Strategies, Asia ex-Japan. Her primary focus is on Style/Factor Analysis and Multi-Factor Strategy, Portfolio Construction and Risk Analysis, and Index Reshuffle Projection Research. Her team also covers Technical Analysis and other short-term trading ideas, including Charting and Momentum analysis, Statistical or Fundamental Pair Trading Monitor, and Fund Flow Analysis. Before joining Nomura, Sandy was Index Research Manager at Nomura Research Institute. Sandy and her team ranked No.2 in quantitative research in Institutional Investor’s 2012 All-Asia Research Team survey. Sandy holds an MBA from University of Warwick in the UK